About Sherman Reservoir

Sherman Reservoir is a hidden gem just outside Loup City, Nebraska — where rolling hills meet sparkling waters and outdoor adventure awaits in every direction. This scenic 2,800± acre lake is a haven for boating, fishing, and watersports. Anglers flock here for walleye, crappie, catfish, and white bass, while the surrounding Sherman Reservoir Wildlife Management Area offers abundant hunting opportunities for upland bird, deer, and turkey hunting.

Trade Winds Marina, located nearby, provides convenient access with boat slips, kayak rentals, a lakeside café, and full-service amenities — making lake life easy and enjoyable. Residents and visitors enjoy breathtaking sunsets over the water, peaceful mornings, and the charm of small-town living just a short, 15-minute drive to Loup City, or 30 minutes from Ord.
