The Property

53.63± Acres

Discover 53.63± acres of pure Louisiana outdoors just outside Bogalusa, tucked away off McGehee Road. This diverse and scenic tract offers a beautiful mix of timber, featuring mature hardwoods and pines blended with juniper and other native trees—creating an ideal habitat for deer and other wildlife.

Adams Creek and Bogalusa Creek border the land, providing year-round water access for wildlife and endless recreational opportunities. From cooling off with a swim or wading along Bogalusa Creek in the summer to enjoying peaceful creek views throughout the year, the water features truly set this property apart.

While much of the acreage lies within a flood zone—perfect for recreation, hunting, and conservation. This gives you the rare opportunity to enjoy immediate access to your own 53± acre recreational playground.
