Step back in time at The Stokes House, a beautifully restored home dating to approximately 1887, tucked away on 11.67± private acres in Amite County, Mississippi. Rich in character and Southern charm, this one-of-a-kind property offers 3 bedrooms, 2½ baths, and a peaceful rural setting. Thoughtfully restored while preserving the details that make it so special, the home showcases original wood walls and flooring, soaring ceilings, and timeless craftsmanship throughout. A light-filled sunroom provides the perfect spot to relax and enjoy the quiet surroundings, while the home's charm and character reflect more than a century of history. Surrounded by acreage and set well back from the road, The Stokes House offers a wonderful sense of privacy and seclusion without sacrificing the warmth and character of a true historic Southern home. The location is also perfect for the outdoor enthusiast with the Homochitto National forest and Lake Okhissa being just a short drive away. Whether you're drawn to its history, its architecture, or simply the idea of a peaceful country retreat, this is a property that feels special from the first moment you arrive. The Stokes House isn't simply a home—it's a beautifully preserved piece of Amite County history, ready for its next chapter.
