Nestled along the storied banks of the Yazoo River in Yazoo County, Mississippi, Meadowbrook stands as the pinnacle of Southern sporting tradition — a place where waterfowl thunder across flooded duck ponds, deer move silently through hardwood, and generations of families gather to share the thrill of the hunt and the peace of the outdoors.

Duck Hunting - Precision, Habitat, and Tradition

Meadowbrook is a waterfowl hunter's dream, offering eight developed water structures, five of which are actively managed for duck hunting. In 2023, four of the holes were upgraded with new wells, giving members precise control of water levels for ideal hunting conditions. Planted with millet and rice, these flooded fields and timber holes attract strong flights of ducks throughout the season. With its thoughtful design, reliable water management, and proven success, Meadowbrook provides the kind of consistent hunting that keeps members coming back year after year — a blend of preparation, habitat quality, and unforgettable mornings in the blind.
